CENTURY OF EXPLORATION

Introducing the new National Geographic Travel Collection. See pages 12-13.

Viva Mexico!

My love affair with Mexico began more than 30 years ago when I shot one of my first stories for NATIONAL GEOGRAPHIC magazine. It was about the Maya, and I spoke no Spanish. But I found the people to be so warm and the land so spectacular that I've never truly left. Now Mexico and San Miguel are a regular part of my travel itinerary. The colors, the smells, the art, the way the people live, the importance of family and community, the light. It all draws me back every time. As it does with those who travel there, Mexico romanced me.

Over the past few years, I've worked a lot with the folks at the National Geographic Catalog. I often make suggestions for products they could bring to you, and I love testing new bags and other travel gear. Now we've traveled to San Miguel together, and I'm happy to be sharing that with you. I like what San Miguel represents—artisans, travelers, explorers, community, photography—and I think you will too.

So, wherever your journeys take you this spring and summer, be sure to check out this Spring 2006 Catalog before you go. As travelers ourselves, we know exactly what you need to ease your passage.

Best Regards,

David Alan Harvey

Hand-painted Silk Celebration Kite

Fourth-generation Beijing kitemaker Ha Yi Qi carries on a family legacy that was nearly lost when the Cultural Revolution forced his father to hide the family's designs and tools. Fortunately, a revival of this ancient tradition has turned into a thriving workshop where Ha and his apprentices create these exquisite kites. Exuberant pieces of Chinese folk art, these kites are perfect for displaying at home. The hand-painted peach blossom motif is a symbol of longevity, making this a wonderful gift to celebrate a new child, a milestone birthday, or a wedding or anniversary. Handcrafted in China.

30"W x 35"L. NGS EXCLUSIVE

#72423 Silk Celebration Kite $48.00

National Geographic Ultimate Travel Jacket

More than a century of travel and exploration experience went into the creation of our new travel jacket. Made from a lightweight cotton/spandex blend, it is treated with the unique and highly breathable 3XDRIY water-repellent, stain-resistant, quick-drying, and antimicrobial finish. Features include elbow patches; leather cuffs and trim; reinforced shoulders; and more than 20 pockets for storing passports, digital cameras, and other travel necessities. 98% cotton/2% spandex. Machine wash. Imported. See page 12 for more information on our new Travel Collection.

#72324 National Geographic Ultimate Travel Jacket $149.50
Men's sizes M (40), L (44), XL (48).

Santa Prisca Mexican Earrings

With one of the oldest silver mining sites in the Americas, Taxco also has some of the finest silversmiths in the world. Using the ancient lost-wax technique, the Mexican artisan forms the beautiful silver arabesques of these graceful earrings and then hand-mounts the colorful dichroic glass beads. Handcrafted in Mexico. 2 1/2"L.

#72519 Mexican Silver Earrings $55.00

Mexican Ceramic Maya Vessel

A civilization with highly developed art and architecture, the Maya left a record of their ancient cities in southwestern Mexico. This ceramic vessel is handcrafted by a master Mexican artisan who has led a lifelong study of this pre-Hispanic culture. The gentle curves of the vase are reminiscent of the ancient pottery found at Maya sites; and the etched relief reflects Maya personages, their strong features interspersed with numerical symbols. Handcrafted in Mexico. 6"W x 7 1/4"H x 6"D.

#72530 Maya Ceramic Vessel $58.00

CULTURAL EXPLORATIONS

A. Bihari Striped Scarf

The remote villages of Bihar, close to the India/Nepal border, have the rich folk art traditions of an ancient people. Men and women work at home on hand looms to create colorful fabrics, including the traditional scarves called odhni. For centuries, young women have worn the simple garment as a head scarf. Our scarf, with its multiple stripes of royal blue, crimson, magenta, and teal, is a great lightweight travel piece. Handwoven of cotton, viscose, rayon, and wool in India. Hand-wash. Please expect some variation. 13"W x 70"L. NGS EXCLUSIVE

#72442 Bihari Striped Scarf $25.00

B. Guatemalan Floral Tapestry Bag

Maya women spend six months weaving together the beautiful colors and patterns of their cotton huipils, or traditional Maya blouses. The intricate patterns are unique to each village and identify their myths, history, and ethnic identity. Maya artisans use vintage huipils to create these gorgeous tote bags as a way to share their culture with the world. As each is a one-of-a-kind piece, please expect some variation in colors and fabrics used. Handmade in Guatemala.

18"W x 11"H x 5 1/2"D.

#72437 Guatemalan Floral Tapestry Bag $68.00

C. Maasai Zulu-grass Necklace

Kenya's Maasai are among the most recognized African peoples on Earth, and their beadwork is world renowned. When drought threatened the Maasai's livelihood in the late 1990s, the beadwork that is part of their cultural heritage became key to helping them maintain their independent lifestyle. Using the abundant grasses of the Rift Valley to create a new type of bead material, Maasai women make these Zulu-grass necklaces, which help them preserve their traditions in the face of social and environmental threats. Sparkling with Czech glass beads, this necklace is a vibrant, versatile, ecologically conscious, and lightweight travel piece. Adjustable 16"L to 20"L.

#72439 Zulu-grass Necklace $38.00

D. Explorer-tested Travel Shoes From Spain

Explorer-tested and approved, these walking shoes have a Cuban heel with a special padded shock system and a sculpted rocker bottom that combine to absorb every impact and facilitate effortless walking. Ultrasoft, hand-tanned leather uppers treated with a unique rubbing of olive oil help prevent blisters. A recycled rubber sole grabs the terrain for greater traction. Metal-free, slip-off design allows you to flow through airport security with ease. Lightly scented with tea tree oil. Made in Spain.

E. Nepalese Travel Jacket

The quilting method called "trapunto," which accents this lightweight jacket, is found in the traditional garments worn in Nepal's Kathmandu Valley. Handmade from breathable 100% cotton, this colorful, cultural travel jacket features hidden zippered pockets that offer a secure place to stash valuables. With a collarless cut, front patch pockets, and carved horn buttons, it is a beautiful way to carry the culture of the world with you on your travels. Machine wash. Handmade by artisans in Nepal.

#72451 Trapunto Travel Jacket $98.00

ESSENTIALS FOR THE SAVVY TRAVELER

A. TSA-approved Luggage Locks

Transportation Security Administration (TSA) rules allow inspectors to break luggage locks to inspect checked luggage, but that doesn't mean you have to leave your baggage unlocked and vulnerable. Developed in association with the TSA, these luggage locks feature a combination lock for your personal access, as well as a lock mechanism—to which only the TSA holds the key. A security window indicates if your bags have been accessed by TSA agents. 1 1/8"W x 2"H x 1/2"D. #73567 Set of Two TSA Luggage Locks $18.95 Choose Red (RD), Blue (BL), or Pewter (PW).

Also available in Black.

B. Convertible Wallet Bag

This ingenious travel bag holds so much so well that you can leave your wallet behind. The bag features a zip front pocket, phone and PDA pockets, and a zip interior with three zip compartments to keep items secure on your travel adventures. Wear it across the body, as a shoulder bag or waist pack, or attach it to a belt. Water-resistant nylon. Imported. 9"W x 7"H x 3"D. 14 oz. #73810 Convertible Wallet Bag $49.95 Choose Periwinkle Blue (BL), Khaki (KH), Red (RD), or Black (BK).

Traveler's Mini-light

E. Flexible-neck Mini-light Outperforms Ordinary Travel Lights

No matter where you roam, you'll find endless uses for this tiny, lightweight mini-light. Three brilliant LEDs last for 100,000 hours and run for 70 hours per battery change. Clip it to tent poles, jackets, packs, books, and other objects, and aim its hands-free light right where you need it—no matter how awkward the angle. Batteries included. 5 1/4"W x 7 1/2"H x 1/2"D. #73520 Flexible-neck Mini-light $24.95 Set of Two $44.95

C. Unique Compression Socks Maintain Circulation on Long Flights

Sitting for hours on long flights can cause even healthy feet and legs to swell, which can be uncomfortable and potentially lead to negative side effects. The engineered weave of these therapeutic socks is designed to help prevent this swelling by delivering graduated amounts of compression from toe to calf to stimulate circulation. Made with Coolmax® fibers to deliver a superior fit while keeping feet dry and comfortable for extended periods. Machine wash. Made in Italy.

A. Peruvian Pachamama Opal Jewelry

Considered a gift from Pachamama, the goddess of fertility, good fortune, and nature, rich blue-green Peruvian opal has been used by native Inca in ritual and jewelry for millennia. Today a group of artisans, led by jeweler Tiberio Gonzales, uses this ancient material—still revered by Quechua Indians, descendants of the Inca—to craft versatile accessories with a deep connection to the past and to Mother Earth. Each stone bears the unique marks of the earth in which it was formed and will therefore vary in color from light shades of sky blue to darker turquoise. Each is traced with a sterling silver bezel, believed in Peruvian mythology to be the tears of the moon. Handmade in Peru. Necklace is 16 1/2"L and pendant is 1"W. Bracelet is 7 1/2"L. Earrings are 1"L. All measurements are approximate. NGS EXCLUSIVE

B. Filipino Sea-grass and Sigay Travel Tote

Much of the Philippines' rice and straw, including the bancuan grass that forms the body of this handwoven tote, is grown in lush Bicol province. Local artisans embellish the tote's bright teal border and leather handles with beads and cowrie shells, called sigay. Sigay have at times been worn to indicate rank and are also used to play a game similar to mancala. Traditional island materials come together as an expression of artistic heritage. Canvas-lined with interior pocket. Handmade in the Philippines. 18"W x 11"H x 6"D. NGS EXCLUSIVE

- #72417 Filipino Sea-grass Tote $88.00

C. Land of Five Rivers Embroidered Tunic

The Punjab region in northern India is brimming with highly creative artisans who make everything from ornate jewelry to detailed needlework bedding and fabric. This fine tunic represents those decorative arts with elegant white-on-white embroidery trimming the neck and cuffs and accented by a scattering of beads across the body and tiny bell buttons at the neckline. This embroidered tunic evolved from a typical Punjabi garment called a kameez, a loose cotton shirt with an airy quality to keep you cool. Hand-wash. Made in India.

- #72435 Embroidered Indian Tunic $42.00
- Women's sizes S (6–8), M (10–12), L (14–16), XL (18–20).

E. Indian Block Print Travel Skirt

Yards of summer-light cotton stretch across a long wooden table in a textile workshop in Rajasthan. With sharp raps, an artisan moves along the table, stamping inked carved wooden blocks on the fabric. Centuries-old Indian textile traditions involve embellishing fabrics with hand block-printing. Here, this block printing adorns a breezy aqua cotton travel skirt that looks great even after the most taxing journey. Roll and twist it in a ball when packing, and it comes out with the irregular folds that give the skirt its shape. Elastic beaded drawstring waist. Hand-wash. Made in India. NGS EXCLUSIVE

- #72425 Indian Block Print Travel Skirt $38.00
- Women's sizes S (4–6, 36"L), M (8–10, 37"L), L (12–14, 38"L).

D. Himalayan Earth and Sky Necklace

In Tibet, turquoise (called gyu) and coral are two of the most highly valued materials. Turquoise has been used as currency, and coral is a precious trade object in this landlocked mountainous country. Nomadic people of the region frequently wear many pieces of turquoise and coral jewelry at once, as spiritual protection and as a way to keep their wealth at hand. By pairing faux coral and turquoise with carnelian and handmade nickel and silver-plated beads, jewelers living on the Tibetan/Indian border re-create this traditional Himalayan design. 24"L.

E. La Rioja Travel Sandals

Striking a balance between Old World tradition and modern travel requirements, these Spanish sandals are created in La Rioja, an area known for its artisan shoemakers since ancient times. With a distinctive leaf motif, the red leather straps are tanned using vegetable extracts and ground tree bark and are then treated with olive oil to prevent blisters. The sueded leather foot bed with cork midsole molds to your foot, creating a custom fit for hours of exploring comfort. Plus the cushioned insole absorbs heel impact, allowing you to walk all day without fatigue. Metal-free and easy to slip off, they are a breeze at airport security. Handcrafted in Spain from all natural and recycled materials.

A. Indian Embroidered Floral Jacket

Throughout India, embroidery and needlework are highly developed local folk arts. In the region of Kashmir, however, needlework is the domain of highly skilled royal craftspeople. Worked in flat chain stitch, embroidery flows like brushstrokes across this distinctive cotton canvas jacket. The cut is an updated and relaxed version of the popular Nehru style. Fully lined. Dry clean only. Made in India.

D. Carved Chinese Necklace

Dangling from a 29" strand of tiger eye, Austrian crystal, leopard-skin jasper, and cloisonné beads is a beautiful piece of hand-carved jade representing the Chinese character for joy and luck. Historically, jade was believed to have a value greater than gold or silver, and the power to protect mind and body. It has an extensive history of use in ritual ceremonies in China since 5000 B.C. Pendant is 2"W.

B. Rajasthani Framed Elephant Painting

Indian artist Mohan Soni is one of India's masters of miniature painting. Inspired by watercolors made for Mughal emperors, he and his apprentices continue this 400-year-old tradition. Called miniatures because of their exquisite detail, traditional miniature paintings depict Hindu deities and scenes from everyday life. Here, a trio of royal pachyderms parades with trunks raised, a sign of good luck. Hand-rendered with mineral paints on handmade paper and a gold-toned wood frame with silk matting.

#72432 Rajasthani Elephant Painting $138.00

C. Personalized Egyptian Pendants

In hieroglyphic text, a cartouche was used to eternalize the pharaoh's name and came to be used as an amulet. The oval ring that surrounds the name was meant to protect the pharaoh in the afterlife. These beautiful cartouches can be personalized with the name or phrase of your choosing in Egyptian hieroglyphics. Limit of eight letters. Handmade in Cairo. The chain is 18"L and the pendant is approximately 1 1/2"L.

F. Maasai Mother and Child Sculpture

Today, East Africa's seminomadic Maasai people continue the pastoral lifestyle of their ancestors. Maasai elders are recognized by their large ear loops, and the women wear amazingly detailed beaded collars that are highly prized by collectors of African art. An example of African resourcefulness, this petite sculpture is crafted from reclaimed metals and evokes traditional Maasai culture while celebrating the universal bond between parent and child.

Handmade in Kenya. Approximately 3 1/2"W x 8"H x 1 3/4"D. NGS EXCLUSIVE

A UNIQUE COLLECTION OF
HANDMADE ARTISTRY

A. Centuries of Tradition
From Bali

This extraordinary handcrafted jewelry embodies the immeasurable artistic skill for which Bali is known. Fishermen on the island often carve jewelry from the mother-of-pearl shells of the catch. The 16"-long necklace has sparkling faceted garnets and lustrous mother-of-pearl hand-set by Balinese artisans into gleaming sterling silver bezels linked by handmade hinges. The 8"-long adjustable bracelet is created from hand-selected checkerboard-cut garnets set in sterling silver. Matching earrings of checkerboard-cut garnets are accented with a garnet facet drop and are 3/4" long.

B. São Paulo Mouth-blown
Art Glass Vase

In the 13th century, Venetian glassblowers were forced to move to the island of Murano to keep their trade secrets under wraps. By the early 20th century, many had migrated throughout the world, including to São Paulo, Brazil. There, third-generation master glassblower Antonio Carlos creates this sweeping and substantial art glass vase, keeping the culture of his ancestors alive while drawing inspiration from the South American landscape. Approximately 6"W x 11 1/2"H x 3"D.

#72424 São Paulo Glass Vase $125.00

C. Lightweight Kashmiri Shawl

Kashmiri shawls continue a tradition that began in this mountainous region in the 15th and 16th centuries. A paisley frame surrounds a sweeping paisley and floral pattern rendered in natural hues of rose and russet. Handwoven of lightweight pure wool by master Kashmiri weavers, it is a luxurious, sheer canvas for a timeless motif. Dry clean only. Handmade in India. Approximately 2'4"W x 6'8"L.

#72430 Lightweight Kashmiri Shawl $78.00

D. Balinese Freshwater Pearl Watch

In small workshops in Denpasar, Bali's capital city, skilled artisans carefully frame cultured freshwater pearls in sterling silver. Some of the world's most perfect pearls are formed in oyster beds that lie just off the island's shores. Bali is known for its master silversmiths, and the art of setting jewels into bezels to enhance their shape and luster is the specialty of this workshop, where skills are passed from jeweler to apprentice through the generations. A mother-of-pearl face gleams in this watch that is both classic for day and elegant for evening.

Batteries included. Approximately 7 1/2"L. NGS EXCLUSIVE

E. A Lightweight Lace Tie Cardigan
Hand-knit in the Mountains of Peru

High in the Andes near the Peruvian city of Arequipa, talented textile artisans carry out an ancient trade. Peru has a textile tradition that is more than 3,000 years old, and the hands that create these extremely soft lace tie cardigans hold generations of accumulated knowledge of unique Peruvian patterns. Made from certified organic cotton and ecofriendly, wrinkle-resistant Tencel, which is made by processing wood pulp into a silky fabric. Hand-wash. Hand-knit in Peru.

F. Vietnamese Embroidered Floral Bag

In Vietnam, embroidery is described as "painting with thread," a sentiment that comes to life in this artistic bag. Silk and cotton canvas is embellished with a regal stylized floral pattern. A purple lotus blooms at the center, reminiscent of the pond that surrounds the One Pillar Pagoda. Fully lined, with an inside zippered pocket. The detachable shoulder strap is adjustable from 30"L to 53"L. Hand-embroidered by artisans in Vietnam, so no two are exactly alike. 9 1/2"W x 6"H x 2"D. NGS EXCLUSIVE

#72443 Vietnamese Embroidered Bag $98.00

G. Mouth-blown Venetian Glass Necklace

The romance and timelessness of Italy come together in this necklace, handcrafted in the centuries-old tradition of glassmaking on the island of Murano. Large, lustrous beads of mouth-blown glass are meticulously hand-painted on the inside with 24-karat gold leaf. 26"L. NGS EXCLUSIVE

INTRICATE DESIGNS FROM
INTERNATIONAL ARTISANS

A. Maharani Pearl and Gemstone Bracelet

In Northern India, Mughal royalty wore dramatic bracelets and chokers gleaming with massive precious stones. This history inspired an Indian jeweler to design a regal cufflike bracelet using faceted citrine, iolite, amethyst, garnet, and peridot, framed in sterling silver. To bring his design to life, he looked to the remote silversmithing villages of Bali where master artisans pass their simple tools and exquisite skills down from generation to generation. Cultured freshwater pearls from Lake Biwa in Japan add texture and color to complete this vibrant piece of Pan-Asian artistry.

B. Miniature Egyptian Perfume Bottles

Egyptians are believed to be the first to incorporate fragrances and perfume into their cultural rituals, and intricate perfume bottles have been discovered within the tombs of Egyptian pharaohs. Our beautiful examples are handblown and shaped in Egypt using a technique that has been in use since the 13th century. Each is a unique creation accented with 24-karat gold, painted in delicate translucent colors, and finally topped with a sculpted leaf-shaped stopper. Fill them with perfumes or scented oils.

No two are alike. Set of five. Approximately 4"H. NGS EXCLUSIVE

C. Provençal Indiennes Reversible Travel Jacket

Double your travel wardrobe with this lightweight reversible cotton jacket. For four millennia, some of the most captivating patterns have emerged from textile workshops of India and influenced styles the world over. In the 17th century, Indian printed cloth was so popular in France that Provençal mills began reproducing Indian patterns, resulting in the floral patterns we now associate with the south of France. This vibrant turquoise paisley jacket reverses to floral key lime. Patch pockets and side vents. 26" long. Machine wash. Made in India. NGS EXCLUSIVE

#72426 Reversible Travel Jacket $128.00

Women's sizes S (4-6), M (8-10), L (12-14), XL (16).

D. Provençal Indiennes Quilted Travel Tote

This versatile cotton travel tote embodies cross-continental artistry. In the 17th century, Indian printed calico was all the rage in the court of Louis XIV. French mills copied Indian patterns to keep up with demand for this fashionable fabric. Eventually this in-vogue style reached the south of France, where the floral patterns that have come to evoke the Provençal countryside originated as local merchants' answer to the immense popularity of Indian printed cotton. Turquoise paisley with bands of key lime flowers bring eye-catching refinement to this handy carryall. Zip top and drop-in base for structure. Three interior pockets, one with zip. Made in India. 15 1/2"W x 12 1/2"H x 5 1/2"D. Strap is 27"L. NGS EXCLUSIVE

#72434 Indian Quilted Tote $68.00

F. Indian Floral Travel Pajamas

India's Mughal emperors adorned their clothes, jewels, and palaces with intricate patterns and bright colors. Their interest in stylized images of flora gave rise to the graceful pattern we now call paisley. These comfortable, lightweight, easily packable cotton pajamas combine the Mughal love of pattern and decoration with India's long tradition of textilemaking—an industry that, in the 20th century, Mahatma Gandhi considered key to his country's self-reliance. Comes in a matching bag that's convenient for travel. Button front and elastic waist with drawstring. Machine wash. Made in India. NGS EXCLUSIVE

#72438 Indian Floral Pajamas $42.00

Women's sizes S (4-6), M (8-10), L (12-14), XL (16-18).

Pajamas come in a convenient travel bag.

E. Handcrafted Chilean Jewelry

Meticulously handmade from start to finish by Chilean artisans, this ensemble places hand-cut turquoise, obtained from the Andes mountains, in stunning sterling silver settings. Its elegant simplicity recalls the motifs of the ancient Aztec, whose tradition held that turquoise brought prosperity. Made in Chile.

A. Thai Spring Garland Bracelet

In Thailand, flowers were the first forms of jewelry—a blossom in the hair, a garland of flowers worn around the neck. This tradition remains strong today in Thai culture, where ceremonies are marked by a profusion of fresh blooms worn on the body and as part of the decor. Artist Busarin Hutawarakorn wanted to capture that heritage by creating an everlasting floral accent made of citrine, quartzite, and glass beads. Threaded on delicate stainless steel filaments, this bracelet's subtle flex creates a custom fit as it gently wraps your wrist. Comes in an embroidered gift box. Handcrafted in Thailand. Approximately 7"L. NGS EXCLUSIVE

D. Marwari Hand-carved Wisdom Owl

In Indian lore, owls are regarded as wise, clever, and a little mysterious. Lakshmi, the goddess of prosperity, is often depicted riding an owl. This inquisitive blue creature is hand-carved and hand-painted by artisans in the southwestern Rajasthan region of Marwar. Owls are a common decoration in Hindu homes, and this calm creature reflects the handcrafted art that is a Marwari craft hallmark. Please allow for variations as each piece is unique. E. Chinese Butterfly Silk Robe

The tradition of silkmaking originated in China more than 4,000 years ago. And while the Chinese kept the technique a secret for thousands of years, a spirited princess, en route to India to marry, smuggled several silkworms in her headdress to ensure she would always have the fine material with her. Unwittingly, she brought the secret of silk to the rest of the world. This elegant, slightly sheer white robe with a flower and butterfly motif is from the Hangzhou region of China—regarded as the home of silk. Dry clean only. Hand-painted in China. Approximately 44"L. F. Baltic Amber Heart Pendant

In 1701, Prussian King Frederick I commissioned an ornate room made from tons of translucent Baltic amber. Later, the intricate panels passed into Russian hands, and Catherine the Great installed them in her summer home in Pushkin. They disappeared in 1942, and their location remains a mystery. This captivating treasure engages the imagination, and you can carry a connection to this intriguing tale with you as a lightweight amber pendant. Carved by hand in Poland. 1 1/4"-wide pendant hangs from an 18" sterling silver chain. NGS EXCLUSIVE
#72073 Baltic Amber Heart Pendant $58.00

B. Mexican Silver Swallow Earrings

Adorned with intricate designs depicting swallows in flight, these earrings are handmade from sterling silver by a Mexican jeweler using the lost-wax technique. Dating back thousands of years, this method involves pouring molten silver into wax-filled molds. Once these initial castings have been produced, each is slowly finished by hand to produce an ageless work of Latin American artistry. Made in Mexico. 1 3/4"L. NGS EXCLUSIVE
#73495 Mexican Silver Swallow Earrings $39.95

C. African Shona Giraffe Sculpture

Shona art, created by Zimbabwe's largest tribe, is one of the most significant art forms to come out of Africa in the 20th century. Family relationships, such as this family of four, are often represented by the animal kingdom in Shona art. The artists believe that their chiseling and polishing releases the spirit form that is trapped within the rapoka stone. As each piece is one of a kind, please expect variation in the color and veining of the stone. Approximately 6"W x 10 1/2"H x 2"D.

G. Yangtze River Pearl Stretch Bracelets

Early in the 20th century, people discovered how to induce the transformation of a grain of sand into an organic gem, the pearl. Since that time, the natural irregularities of baroque cultured pearls have been treasured by women all over the world. These cultured freshwater pearls are available in shades of honeysuckle, goldenrod, lavender, and rose and are strung on generous elastic. The colors of these bracelets coordinate beautifully together or can be worn singly. Read more about pearls in the June 1997 NATIONAL GEOGRAPHIC. Set of four includes one bracelet in each color.

LIVING HISTORY

A. Schoolhouse Radio-controlled Wall Clock

Combining 21st-century circuitry that receives signals from the official U.S. atomic clock with the historical "drop octagon" design found in 19th-century schoolhouses, this timepiece automatically maintains permanent accuracy to the second. Self-adjusting for daylight saving time, leap seconds, and other official time changes, it has a beautiful cherry-finished alder case and sets up with the touch of a button. Two AA batteries, not included. 13 1/2"W x 21"H x 3 3/4"D.

#72088 Schoolhouse Radio-controlled Wall Clock $99.95

B. WWII Flight Jacket With Survival Map Lining

National Geographic performed an important service during World War II as we supplied maps to the Allies. Maps were often sewn in to the lining of flight jackets in case the pilots were shot down over enemy territory. This is a reproduction of the historical WWII flight jackets worn by the Allied pilots who flew perilous missions over wartime terrain, and the nylon lining features a re-creation of the survival maps of southern France. A surface of vintage French lamb leather adds to the authenticity. Features include some of the customizations that pilots preferred, such as the wind flap, front zipper with storm flap, knit cuffs and waistband, and zip top and side-entry pockets. With polyester fiberfill for warmth. Imported.

#72268 WWII Flight Jacket $399.00
Men's sizes M (38-40), L (42-44), XL (46-48).
Ships in mid-February.

C. National Geographic's Guns, Germs, and Steel DVD

As seen on PBS and based on the Pulitzer Prize-winning book by Jared Diamond, who traveled the globe for more than 30 years trying to answer one of the biggest questions in world history: Why is the world so unequal? The answers he found—that the societies that developed food production techniques first were also the first to develop writing, technology, and government—were simple, yet extraordinary. Our DVD weaves together anthropology and science with epic historical reenactments that bring his fascinating theories to life. The DVD is also available with an updated version of the book with a new chapter. Two-disc DVD set is 165 minutes long.

National Geographic Illuminated Globes

The Explorer 12"-diameter globe stands 17" high and features a wood base, brass-toned semimeridian, and 3,500 place-names.

The Metropolis 12"-diameter globe stands 17" high and features a silver-toned metal semimeridian, a metal base, and 3,500 place-names.

The Envoy, our 14"-diameter globe, is 39" high with a burnished gold-toned semimeridian, walnut-finished wood base, and 5,000 place-names.

Truly unique, these state-of-the-art globes are created by our own legendary cartographers using a special process that combines 17 separate layers of rich color printing with specially developed materials, resulting in virtually unbreakable and infinitely detailed spheres. Plus, with our exclusive illumination feature you get two globes in one. With the light off, your globe shows a wealth of political data and place-names, all printed in the patented, easily readable National Geographic typeface. Turn the light on, and the physical world is suddenly revealed as meticulously hand-drawn mountains, valleys, vegetation zones, and ocean floors appear. Each heirloom-quality globe features our unique cord-concealing innovation (the cord runs through the base) and comes with a lifetime guarantee, a certificate of authenticity, and a booklet on globemaking.

E. World Mural Map

It may be the most impressive map we've ever made. We've taken our award-winning classic map of the world and blown it up to extraordinary mural size, where every inch represents 206 miles. Endowed with the same cartographic detail, accuracy, and artistry for which our other maps are known, three durable, latex-coated panels can adhere like wallpaper. Featuring Winkel Tripel projection, which minimizes distortions; and informational insets.
